Sir,

In response to the Office Action mailed on Aug. 12, 2004. The applicant decides to restrict the application to the invention of the memory device, classified in class 365, subclass 148. As a result of this action, the applicant submits new claims 1 to 11 to replace the old claims.

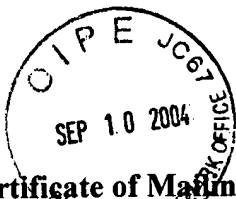

A divisional patent application will be filed later to claim the invention about the method of fabricating ultra-small opening disclosed in the parent application.

Very respectfully,

Hai Jiang
